

FOLD-IN SUMMARY

Before anyone acts

Family land decisions can move fast when taxes, buyers,
Slow down long enough to gather facts before anyone sig
Save letters, texts, tax notices, court papers, and off
A shared history is not the same thing as clear legal t

BACK/RESOURCES

Get help in South Carolina

Center for Heirs Property: (843) 745-7055 | (866) 657-2676

South Carolina Legal Services: (888) 346-5592

Educational information only, not legal advice.

Laws and procedures can change. Confirm details before acting.

Open the guide online

<https://shamoka80.github.io/Heirs-Property/>

FRONT COVER

Heirs Property Guide South Carolina

Before you sign, sell, borrow, or agree to family-land terms

A downloadable tri-fold brochure for families facing heirs property

Download brochure

<https://shamoka80.github.io/Heirs-Property/>

INSIDE PANEL 1

What heirs property means

Heirs property often means family land passed down without a will. Several relatives may have shared interests in the same property. Shared or unclear ownership does not automatically mean there is a problem. Title, deed, probate, and undivided interest are key words.

INSIDE PANEL 2

Warning signs

- Tax notices or tax delinquency
- Pressure to sell quickly
- Unclear title after death
- Family conflict or silence
- Someone discouraging legal review

Before you sign

Pause before signing deeds, sale papers, loans, transfers, tax-sale papers, partition papers, or informal family agreements.

INSIDE PANEL 3

What to do first

Gather records before calling

- Property address and county
- Parcel number or tax map number
- Deed holder or deed book/page if known
- Tax notices
- Probate, will, estate, or court papers
- Names of possible heirs and current occupants
- Deadlines, hearing dates, buyer letters, or texts

Questions to ask

- What documents should I gather?
- Is this title, probate, tax, partition, or combined issue?
- Are there urgent deadlines?
- What should no one sign yet?
- Who may have legal authority to make decisions?